New Allpack RDC in Stafford

New Regional Distribution Centre In Stafford Is Fully Operational

Allpack is pleased to announce the opening of its new Regional Distribution Centre in Stafford during the first quarter of 2025. This expansion represents a significant milestone in our continued growth and commitment to enhancing service efficiency and product availability across the UK.

Strategically located in Stafford, junction 14 off the M6, the new facility will enable us to increase logistical support to customers in northern regions such as Manchester, Liverpool and Leeds, optimise stock management and increase warehousing storage operations for clients to benefit from increased stock holding capacities. The state-of-the-art distribution centre has been designed to support the increasing demand for our extensive range of high-quality, eco-friendly packaging solutions while reinforcing our mission to drive sustainability within the industry.

“We are thrilled to expand our distribution network with this new facility in Stafford,” said Andrew Parnaby, Operations Director at Allpack Packaging Ltd. “This investment underscores our commitment to providing our customers with the highest level of service while also supporting our sustainability goals by reducing transportation emissions and improving operational efficiency.”

The Stafford Regional Distribution Centre features advanced inventory management systems and industry-leading infrastructure to align with our customer-centric objectives. The expansion also brings job opportunities to the local community, contributing to economic growth and employment in the area.

Allpack remains dedicated to continuous innovation, sustainable practices, and excellence in packaging solutions. The opening of this new distribution hub marks another step forward in the company’s mission to better serve our customers while minimizing any environmental impact.

Well done to all the Allpack Teams who worked on getting the new Stafford RDC site up and operational as quickly as possible and with the minimum amount of disruption to our customers’ deliveries.

Allpack Showcases at Two Industry Exhibitions

Allpack has impressed audiences with its packaging showcase at two prominent exhibitions during Q1 2025 - Packaging Innovations/Empack and IntraLogistex Exhibition.

These exhibitions served as great platforms for Allpack to showcase our packaging solutions to various industries and sectors. Allpack's participation underscores our commitment to pushing the boundaries of packaging innovation and meeting the evolving needs of its customers, whichever industry they are in.

Packaging Innovations/Empack 2025, 12 & 13 February, NEC, Birmingham

Packaging Innovations/Empack is renowned for gathering packaging professionals from across the globe as a showcase of the latest advancements in packaging design, materials and technologies. Allpack's exhibition stand highlighted its dedication to sustainability, process intelligence in packaging and its extensive packaging ranges.

Allpack showcased its latest range of eco-friendly packaging solutions aimed at reducing the environmental impact of packaging, without compromising on quality or functionality. From recyclable materials to biodegradable packaging options, Allpack demonstrated its proactive approach towards sustainability in the packaging sector.

IntraLogistex Exhibition 2025, 25 & 26 March, NEC, Birmingham

IntraLogistex Exhibition showcased the latest innovations in intralogistics process, material handling and warehousing operations, which made the exhibition the ideal platform for Allpack to showcase our expertise in optimising packaging processes within supply chain operations.

Allpack's stand featured a host of packaging solutions tailored to streamline warehousing, distribution and logistics packaging processes. The updated PaintGuard range and grip® pallet wrap demonstrations were on display to visitors at the stand, which offered a comprehensive suite of products and services to enhance efficiency and productivity in intralogistics operations. The Allpack Team was involved in productive conversations with contacts from many different industries and sectors, who required transit packaging solutions.

Allpack To Showcase Sustainable Packaging Solutions For The Digital Age at IRX Expo 2025

Allpack's Stand A10 at this year's IRX Expo, 13-14 May, NEC, will showcase innovative packaging solutions tailored specifically for the e-commerce sector. From protective packaging materials to custom-designed box styles, Allpack will offer a diverse array of packaging solutions to ensure products arrive safely at their destinations while also reflecting the unique identity of the brand owner.

Moreover, Allpack will highlight the advancements in sustainable packaging options, including recyclable materials, compostable packaging, and reduced packaging waste solutions. As environmental packaging gains further importance among consumers and businesses alike, Allpack's commitment to sustainability underscores its dedication to ensuring responsible packaging practices.

NEW! Enviromail™ Paper Bubble Bag Range

We are proud to launch the new Enviromail™ Paper Bubble Bag Range, a sustainable alternative to traditional plastic-lined mailers, marking a significant step forward in our continued commitment to reducing environmental impacts across the packaging industry.

Designed to meet the growing demand for plastic-free, recyclable mailing solutions, Enviromail™ Paper Bubble Bags combine protective performance with planet-friendly materials. Each mailer in the Enviromail™ range is made entirely from FSC®-certified kraft paper, including a specially engineered paper cushioning layer that mimics the shock absorption of traditional plastic bubble wrap. Lightweight yet tough, these mailers provide excellent protection for items during transit while being fully kerbside recyclable.

Key Features of Enviromail™ Paper Bubble Bags:

- 100% plastic-free and fully kerbside recyclable
- FSC®-certified materials for responsible sourcing
- Durable, tear-resistant kraft paper exterior
- Innovative paper cushioning for reliable impact protection
- Lightweight design to reduce shipping costs and emissions

"Consumers and businesses alike are becoming more environmentally aware, and packaging plays a huge role in that," said Andrew Almond, Marketing Manager at Allpack. "With Enviromail™, we're offering a practical, high-performance mailing solution that helps our customers reduce plastic waste without sacrificing quality."

Suitable for e-commerce, retail, and logistics businesses, Enviromail™ Paper Bubble Bags are available in a range of sizes and offer easy, secure sealing for fast-paced packing operations.

This latest innovation is part of Allpack's broader Sustainable Future Initiative, which focuses on delivering packaging solutions that support circular economy principles while maintaining industry-leading performance standards.

Allpack Celebrates Teamwork & Achievements with Staff BBQ

At Allpack, success is a team effort and what better way to celebrate hitting our targets than by coming together for some great food, fun, and well-earned recognition?

During February, the Allpack team gathered for an enthusiastic Staff BBQ to mark a major milestone: smashing recent performance targets! From the warehouse floor to the office desks, every member of the Allpack family played a role in this success, and the event was a perfect opportunity to say 'thank you' for a tremendous team effort.

The BBQ was held at Allpack's HQ, Cannock Regional Distribution Centre, where the aroma of sizzling burgers, cooked to perfection by the Allpack Directors, filled the air. The Directors kept the grills going all afternoon, serving up delicious options for every taste, while drinks and desserts kept spirits high. The atmosphere was vibrant with a real sense of camaraderie between all the teams involved.

"This BBQ is just a small token of appreciation for everything our staff do," said George Clarke, Managing Director. "We've hit some impressive targets, and it's all down to the people who bring their best every day. We're proud, grateful, and excited for what's next."

Here's to more milestones, more memories, and more shared success. Thank you, Team Allpack!
